

TimeOut magazine names Berlin one of the best cities in the world in 2024

- New York - Cape Town - Berlin: International magazine "TimeOut" votes Berlin 3rd on the list of "Best cities of the world"

Berlin, 24 January 2024 The German capital Berlin is one of the best cities in the world, along with New York and Cape Town. The international online city magazine "Time Out" published its annual list for 2024 yesterday and puts Berlin in third place.

Burkhard Kieker, Managing Director of visitBerlin: "The brand of our city of Berlin is strong and intact. The fact that the world sees it this way is thanks to the many people who are committed to making our city so attractive. With New York and Cape Town, Berlin is in good company at the top of the best cities in the world. We are already working closely together and will continue to strengthen our cooperation h."

The magazine writes: "What makes Berlin great: Berlin is so much more than its clubs, its galleries and its reputation as the European capital of cool. The city may not be known for its friendliness, but Berliners are the heart and soul of the German capital. [...] The twelve districts are easy to reach by public transport, but the city is also easy to explore on a rented bike. Cycle paths criss-cross the capital, and there are seemingly endless green spaces (Tempelhofer Feld, a disused airport site that has been transformed into a huge park, is a favourite of locals)." Grace Beard, TimeOut travel editor, says: "Every city that has made the list has been highly rated by locals. This year's top cities are not only incredible places to visit and go out, with world-class restaurants, culture and nightlife, but also great places to live, with a strong spirit and an undeniable vibe."

The annual TimeOut list of the best cities in the world not only provides inspiration for travelling, but is also a global snapshot of urban life. Thousands of city dwellers were asked about the quality and affordability of food, culture and nightlife in their city and how they feel about their city.
